Or any City, or Suburban Village, who gives his affairs constant care and vigorous personal attention knows that there is no one thing under the sun that will so materially assist him in procuring intelligent and satisfactory purchasers of his wares as the means to be employed through the instrumentality of

ADVERTISING.

The first thing that such a careful, discerning, intelligent and consequently successful tradesman will do is, NOT to seek for the paper that will agree to make known his wants for the least money, nor will he necessarily patronize the journal claiming the largest clientele and demanding the greatest compensation, but he will use discretion in selecting the paper that has the majority of readers who are likely to use and buy his peculiar article of merchandise.

If he is a dealer in school books it is not fair to suppose he would advertise largely in a sporting journal, nor would he be apt to select some secular paper if he was conducting a dancing academy; nor would he advertise extensively in farming or poultry magazines if he was engaged in the diamond trade or manufacture of silk goods. If he be in the grocery business, boots or shoes, hats or caps, hardware, dry goods or any particular line wherein the consumers and masses were patrons, he would unquestionably adopt a
